Polish Milenium Well Celebrated

Ted Kryczka, Coleman school teacher, speaking to over 150 Polish persons, gathered in the Polish Hall May 9th to mark Poland's Milenium of Christianity, gave an interesting resume' of Poland's history since 966 A.D., when the country joined the Christian Community to the present day.

Today, he said, we are gathered here to celebrate an old, yet very significant historical event. This event is called, Poland's Milenium of Christianity, or in simple terms, Poland's 1,000th birthday since she adopted Christianity. For it was in the year 966 A.D. that Poland first joined the Christian Community.

Poland had a choice of two centres from which to pick her Christian upbringing: Rome or Byzantium. Her choice of Rome by Prince Mieszko in 966 A.D. was very important. For under the guidance of Rome, Poland could, and did, develop an independent country within the Christian community and in co-operation with the Church and the State.

But independence was not the only benefit that Poland achieved, by joining the Christian Faith, she became a member and a partner in western culture and civilization. She benefited from cultural exchanges, from trade and from the writings and teachings of the Christian world. She received the tools with which to acquire learning and knowledge. In effect Christianity brought western culture and civilization to a backward, pagan land.

Christianity set Poland on the road to progress. Its people have never looked back, and today are considered the defenders of the Christian faith in Eastern Europe.

While Poland benefited from her acceptance of Christianity, Europe and the Christian world also benefited from Poland's entrance into the Christian fold. She accepted her role as a Christian nation and also became a strong defender of the principles of the Christian faith.

For example — in 1237-1240 — Poland fought the Tartars and saved Europe from the Mongol yoke. Again, and perhaps more outstanding is the proud victory of King Jan Sobieski of Poland in 1683 at the Gates of Vienna. This famous battle is considered by all historians as not only a glorious event in Polish history, but a glorious event for Christianity and all Europe. Sobieski's victory saved the Christian Empire and the Turks never again seriously threatened Europe and Christianity from then on.

Thus Poland accepted Christianity and later fought to preserve it. The Polish people are extremely proud of Poland's part in the defence of Christianity, and rightly so.

But besides being defenders of Christianity, the Polish people have also contributed to western civilization. Although it is impossible to name all the contributors, I am sure all of you have heard of Copernicus and Maria Sklodowska (Curie) and their contributions to science; Pulaski and Kosciuszko and their contribution toward American independence, and in the fine arts all of us have at one time or another enjoyed the music of Chopin, Paderewski and Rubenstein.

In Canada the Polish people have also contributed to Canadian progress and culture. Today there are 200 professors at various universities, over 1200 engineers and numerous doctors, lawyers, teachers and other professional people. Their contribution has left its mark on Canada and I am sure that they will continue to help in the development of Canada. We are proud of our contributions to the western world and to Canada.

I would be so naive if I did not mention that Poland fought in both World War One and World War Two on the side of the Allies. Her sons fought and died for freedom. Their sacrifice should not be forgotten.

It is unfortunate, however, that while we in Canada are free to celebrate Poland's Milenium of Christianity, the people of Poland have not this same freedom. The Communist government of Poland refuses to allow full freedom in the celebration of this event.

Pope Paul and 150 Bishops from various foreign countries have been refused admittance to Poland to take part in the Milenium celebrations. Further, some 300,000 western pilgrims have also been refused admission to Poland. What an unhappy state of affairs! What hypocrisy! Does Communism think it can stop the Christian Movement? We know that Christian beliefs and principles do not agree with Communist ideas. The Communists would like to see Christianity crushed and slowly disappear. This will not happen. The Communists would do well to look back at history. Pagan Rome did not stop the Christian Movement for their persecutions of the Christians. They only made it stronger.

For although you may enslave and torture a man's body, his mind and faith remain free. Physical conquest does not insure control of the individual. Man's belief and faith in Christ will remain regardless of the type of government or the controls placed on him. Christianity will never die. In conclusion I hope that your celebrations of Poland's Milenium of Christianity are a success and that the goals you have set out for yourselves during the remainder of this year are a success.

Last, but not least, I would like to take this opportunity to wish all the mothers assembled here today — A Very Happy Mother's Day. Short addresses were also given by Mayor John Holyk and Rev. W. Krewski, who based their talks on Mother's Day.

A program of entertainment included poems by Miss K. Pakla and Miss J. Pakla, two young Polish immigrant girls who have only been in Canada for eight months, and a recitation by Mrs. Z. Szulc of Calgary.

Thanks were extended to Walter Badzioch and Joe Moscanica for their efforts in organizing the very successful occasion, also a special thanks to Stanley Maciejewski.

Special services were conducted in the Holy Ghost Catholic Church during the morning when the Church was filled to capacity to hear Rev. W. Krewski.

Coal Companies Seeking More Young Men

Terry Robertson, manager of the National Employment Office in Blairmore, announced the general employment picture during the past month has remained good.

Discounting seasonal layoffs due to spring breakup and, compared to the same period last year, statistics indicate there are 30 per cent more workers employed this year. The NES office also stated a shortage of qualified mill and logging workers will be very evident this summer.

Operating coal mines in the area are continuing to produce at near maximum capacity and will be seeking more young men to learn the operation of new equipment.

Mr. Robertson stated a shortage of jobs for high school students will exist again this year and urges employers to hire a student whenever possible for full or part-time employment.

Numerous applications have already been received by the Blairmore Employment Office from both male and female students seeking summer employment.

The earth is the fifth largest planet.

Victoria Rebekah's Tea a Success

Victoria Rebekah Lodge held a successful Mother's Day Tea on Saturday, May 7th.

The draw for sheets and pillow cases was won by Mrs. J. Michalsky of Blairmore. The tea cloth set was won by Mrs. R. Bowman of Coleman, and the door prize by Mr. J. Howarth.

C.W.L. Hold Monthly Meeting

Coleman C.W.L. held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, May 3rd. Nineteen members were present. After business was discussed lunch was served.

Mrs. P. Rizzo received the attendance prize. The next meeting is to be held on Tuesday, June 7 at the Satellite Restaurant.

Annual School Prom Very Successful

Students at the Horace Allen High School wound up a successful year with the annual Prom and Banquet on Friday, May 13.

The banquet supper, under the chairmanship of Stuart Root got underway after Grace was said by Brent Skura.

A toast to the Queen was proposed by Walter Binda after which the toast proposed to the Staff by Boris Markin was responded to by Principal Horace Allen. John Salus, chairman of the school board, responded to the toast proposed by Jacalyn MacQuarrie, after which Judy Zemek proposed a toast to the parents to which Mrs. G. Misura responded.

Class Valetictorian was Miss Jo Ann Misura, who gave an impressive address, after which Rev. Harold Coward spoke to the graduating class.

Melvin Kropnik responded to Rev. Coward after which Evelyn Gibos expressed the thanks of the school to the Ladies of the Royal Purple for catering to the supper.

The entire gathering then retired to the Horace Allen school auditorium where a program of entertainment was presented.

The program comprised a dance selection "Hi Lilly" by Jo Ann Misura; choir selections by the grade 10 girls' choir, "Moments to Remember" and "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You"; piano solos

"Bumble Boogie" and "Swinging Shepherd Blues" by Laurier MacLeod.

Retiring school secretary Mrs. Nora Goulding was called upon, and Miss Vivian Alampi, on behalf of the students, presented Mrs. Goulding with a scroll and gift for the work she has done over the years for the school.

Following the presentation of the retiring trophies by Horace Allen, the grads were introduced, after which school board chairman John Salus presented each grad with their pins.

The floor of the auditorium was then cleared and the students presented their Grand March, directed by Mrs. C. Wright.

The grads this term are Judy Zemek, Boris Markin, Jo Ann Misura, Melvin Kropnik, John Kapalka, Vivian Alampi, Claire Fabro, Diane Jones, Jacalyn MacQuarrie, Emma Frisk, Evelyn Gibos, Betty Jamarich, Brent Skura, Pat Ondrus, Stuart Root, Bob Poulton, Tom Wavrean and Jim Sikora.

The remainder of the evening was spent dancing in the school auditorium which was colorfully decorated in a spring theme for this special occasion.

Over 200 Attend "Klondike Night"

The "Roaring Twenties" and "Gay Nineties" came to life in Coleman Saturday, May 14th when over 200 Crows Nest Pass persons attended the "Klondike Night" party sponsored by the Coleman Elks Lodge.

The event started at 8 p.m. in the basement of the Elks hall, where old time carnival games and gambling tables were set up and games were played with money. The ring of memorable old-time days was evident all through the evening as costumed people wandered from table to table enjoying themselves.

Highlight of the evening came when John and Kay Kerr of Frank were called upon to judge the "Fuzz" contest.

Winners of the best beard event were Rudy Yeliga and John Yeliga; scraggiest beard prize was won by Harvey Boothillier, and the "Upper Lip Fuzz" prize was won by Norman Hammer; best dressed man prize was awarded to Slug Lozza and second to Paul Pilewich and in the ladies' division Margaret Schultz took first and Margaret Gate second.

Prizes for the comic costume were awarded to Doug Fink and Mrs. Rosie Coccione were given honorable mention. Each of the winners was also presented with a ticket for a chicken dinner at the Turtle Mountain Hotel, a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Kerr.

The overnight bag, donated by Schenley's beverage company was presented to Slug Lozza for his excellent costume. The three silver mugs presented to each of the first three prize winners in the "Fuzz" contest, were provided by Calgary Brewery and are known as the "Golden West Beard Growing Competition Mugs".

The affair wound up with a dance held on the ground floor of the hall where music was provided by Harry Setla and his three sons, the "4 S's", who were all dressed in Klondike era clothing.

Miners' Picnic To Be Held July 10th

The annual Miners' Picnic is being reorganized by the Coleman Local of the United Mine Workers of America.

The picnic was dropped when the coal mining industry slumped in the mid-1960's. The event is scheduled to be held at Koores Ranch, north-west of town, on July 10th, and should weather on this date force postponement the picnic will be held the following week-end.

The picnic will be open to all mine officials and employees and their families, and will feature a day of races and games for the young people and other events for the adults.

A soccer tournament is being planned for the day and a tug-of-war event is also to be held. The Coleman teams have issued a challenge to any soccer or tug-of-war team east of Coleman.

The Miners' Union will provide free pop, ice cream, hot dogs and coffee for the young people and families are requested to bring their own picnic baskets to make the day a successful operation.

A general strike is a strike against the public, not a strike against an employer.

Council "Miffed" at Relief Application

Coleman council, at its meeting May 10, was advised that the annual provincial municipal assistance grant this year is $22,233.70.

The resignation of Glen Sweet as secretary-treasurer of the town, was accepted and advertising for a new secretary was approved.

Council became quite disturbed with the contents they received from Edmonton regarding a request that the town pay 20 per cent of relief costs for a family that left town and are now living in the capital city where the husband of the family is unemployed. The point that "frazzled" councilmen was a statement on the application form that indicated the man had been working in Coleman earning $100 a week and had left town because he owed bills.

Council instructed the secretary to write to Edmonton, advising that they cannot see why they should pay relief as there are plenty of jobs available in Coleman and the applicant could be self-supporting. The letter will also advise that the town will reluctantly pay if they are so compelled.

Reports that the gravel stockpile near the underpass situated town and the town equipment stored near the United Church, are creating an unsightly view, prompted council to remove these two items. Lot 14 in Block six, owned by the town, which is in the vicinity of the CPR station, will be used as a storage grounds for the gravel and town equipment. Several small buildings on the lot will be demolished.

Approval was given to selling the Coleman schools 500 yards of crushed gravel that is to be hauled to school site and spread at $2.00 per yard. The town will also use its grader to lift off some of the top soil. Additional charge is to be made for this work.

Mayor Holyk advised that he had ordered one ton of a new type of pulp that is being successfully used to eliminate dust on roads. The pulp is spread on the road surface and is graded over the roads and is effective up to three years. The material binds with road surface to make a concrete-like surface.

The material, to be used by the town on the main street and around the bluff to West Coleman, costs $175.00 per ton. It is estimated that approximately 650 yards are required to do one block of streets.

Several cottonwood trees in an area at the rear of the Legion are creating a hazard and town work crews will check and remove the trees.

RCMP police reported that vandalism in the town park has been checked and several persons were caught in the act of doing damage. Council request that the offenders be assessed the full cost of the damage.

Council moved that no further recreation supplies for the town's recreation room be purchased after it was learned that five or six decks of cards were being purchased monthly for the recreation room.

Two representatives of Manufacturers Life Insurance Company of Calgary were present at the meeting to discuss with town crews and the council the return of payments made into a group plan by town employees. Three members will resign their jobs and draw their contributions and one will continue with the plan. Council moved that when the resignations are submitted the men will be required the next day with full security rights.

The town's Old Man River Regional Planning Commission membership fee of $652.50 for the 1966 dues was approved by council.

The quarterly school foundation program requisition of $9,034.00 was received.

A meeting with the Old Man River Regional Planning Commission is scheduled for May 31.

Mrs. Harold Coop Mother of the Year

(The Daily Bulletin, Kimberley, British Columbia)
(By Ed McKenzie)

Verna Coop, wife of Mr. Harold Coop of Chapman Camp, was chosen Mother of the Year yesterday at a pretty Mother's Day ceremony held at the McKim Auditorium. A disappointingly small crowd of 50 turned out for the event sponsored annually by the Kimberley Eagles Club. Art Burrows was master of ceremonies for the program.

Mrs. Coop, the 1966 Mother of the Year, was born in Fernie, B. C., in 1927, and two years later she was stricken with polio which left her permanently crippled.

Upon completion of her schooling, Mrs. Coop worked three years for Crows Nest Coal Company. In 1949 Mrs. Coop, then Miss Verna Uphill, was married to Harold Coop and the couple took up residence in Coleman, where Mr. Coop was employed by the East Kootenay Power Co. at Sentinel.

While living there Mr. and Mrs. Coop had two daughters—Glinda and Judy—Glinda being the elder. In 1959 the Coop family moved to Chapman Camp where they have remained since.

Leo Nimstick, in presenting the award stated that the Mother of the Year award is merely a symbol of all mothers who are caring for families and helping in the community.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

Lavender And Old Railroads

When the Commons study committees on Transportation and Communication met to consider adequacy of the present program future plans for passenger service on the lines of the CPR to meet the effective demand of the public for such service, they opened a sachet redolent of lavender, livery stables and the lovely, lonely sound of a locomotive whistle.

The locomotive whistle no longer disturbs the poker players in the livery stable; the livery stable has disappeared or been converted into a broiler hatchery or machine shed.

Times, it seems, have changed. No one sounded sadder about the change than 'Buck' Crump, one-time grease monkey, who came up through the ranks to head Canada's largest railway. Proudly he outlined the steps his line had taken to meet changing needs, — stressing the four vital elements — convenience, comfort, speed and cost to passengers.

When Joe Blow wants to go from point A to point B he has all these four things in mind, and, unfortunately for the railway, usually decides to drive his own car or take a bus. The CPR did everything it could to change the mind of Joe Blow by offering him streamlined, stainless steel trains and scenic domes. Joe still preferred his chrome-trimmed jalopy.

The passengers, Crump sadly admitted, had abandoned the railroad, in spite of all its costly improvements.

What's to do about it?

Joe Blow, naturally, would like to order the railway to keep operating just in case he takes a notion to use it someday. Joe, however, also wants low freight rates, and his own common sense tells him he can't expect the railways to lose money on passenger traffic unless they make up the difference elsewhere. Mr. Crump, who has railroading in his blood, assured the Joe Blows of Canada that the crack CPR transcontinental train, The Canadian, would continue "for years to come."

Could be, but in Winnipeg central heat has had to throw in the towel because of gas.

The blacksmith at Manitou laid down his sledge. The old gas lighter of long ago put out his taper. Roman Catholics dropped Latin. When did you last see a pair of spats?

Time, as somebody keeps saying, marches on. Canadians, like it or not, must march with it.

Service Bureau Sponsor Course

The first evening of the "Dollar and Sense" course sponsored by the Family Service Bureau of Crows Nest Pass and Pincher Creek was held in the music room of the Isobel Selton school in Blairmore on Tuesday, May 3rd.

Mr. Costigan was the main speaker to an interested audience of about 25 persons. He spoke on "Wills" — the importance of having one; and some of the technicalities involved with them.

A lively and informative question and answer period followed the talk.

The "Dollar and Sense" talk offered at Pincher Creek on the same night with a very small audience, so the talk will be presented later.

The following evening the board of directors of the Family Service Bureau held their regular monthly meeting at Coleman. Mr. Coward gave a report on the lecture on juvenile delinquency presented at the meeting of the John Howard Society at Lethbridge.

The group agreed to send Mr. Coward to a seminar for social workers to be held in Calgary. Mr. Coward, at present, is working with 25 people, and Sister Leo Agnes with 11.

Mental Health Letter Of Interest

A letter from a young girl in an Alberta town to Mrs. Grant

MacEwan, provincial hostess of the mental health Mabo-bellere Tea, speaks for itself. The girl sent a membership contribution and this letter:

"Dear Mrs. MacEwan: I am 13 years old and I am very interested in your mental health work because I myself spent some time in a hospital for emotionally disturbed children.

"I want to work with such children when I am older and I hope to make it my career. Please send me as much information as possible.

"If you ever have time please let me know how you are doing. I wish you success in your work and I am proud to know you even if it is only indirectly."

Mrs. MacEwan reports that the early response to her invitation to join the Canadian Mental Health Association is most gratifying. She said: "CMHA needs hundreds of thousands of members — voices to speak for the mentally ill and people to work for mental health."

Information about the Mental Health Movement may be obtained from CMHA, 619 Revillon Bldg., Edmonton.

Letter To The Editor

From Associated Temperance Forces of Alberta

The Editor:

You will be aware of the Amendments to The Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act recently enacted by the Alberta Legislative Assembly. The public should be informed of these changes in laws governing traffic.

I am requesting you to insert the enclosed article as a public service to your readers in what ever section of your newspaper you deem proper.

I hope it will help to curb the slaughter of innocents on our highways.

BREATH or DEATH?

The appalling slaughter on our highways has prompted the Government of Alberta to amend The Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act to curb drinking and driving.

In the year 1965 there was a total of 345 deaths recorded by provincial police departments. The president of the Alberta Safety Council states that according to tests they have made in various places, 54 per cent of fatal highway accidents are caused by alcohol. This means that drinking and driving was responsible for some 185 deaths on our highways last year. Many of these fatalities were innocent people — victims of impaired drivers. In addition to the fatalities, scores of people are maimed for life through these accidents.

It is reasonable that our government should move to protect people using our highways. Some may object to giving a sample of their breath to a peace officer on request. (In every case the peace officer should treat the motorist with courtesy). If the motorist is not impaired by alcohol he has nothing to fear — the breath test protects him. If he is impaired by alcohol he should be penalized by losing his driver's licence for the reason that he is a hazard to the life and limb of his fellow citizens. He may think that he has a right to drink and drive, but his fellow citizens have a prior right—they have a right to live.

For the information of readers we insert the pertinent amendments to Bill No. 101. (The Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act).

1—Clause 3 — 7a (1) Where a peace officer

(a) suspects a person of driving or having driven while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, and

(b) requests the person to submit to the taking of a specimen of his breath, if the person refuses to comply with the request he is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to have his operator's licence suspended by the convicting magistrate or justice for a period not exceeding three months.

(2) Where a person is convicted under subsection (1) he shall forthwith deliver his operator's licence to the convicting magistrate or justice who shall forward the licence to the Minister.

In view of the continuing slaughter of the innocents on our highways by drinking drivers, it is the opinion of the writer that the Amendments to the Act are fully justified. Any motorist who quibbles over giving a sample of his breath when requested by a peace officer is either guilty of impairment by alcohol or he does not care a whit about the safety of other motorists. The innocent motorist who willingly gives a sample of his breath to protect people using our highways demonstrates that he is a driver who cares for the safety of others.

Deputy Chief Fred Sloane of the Edmonton City Police summed up the matter very well when he said "Some people maintain we are being regulated to death. I believe we are being regulated to live." For today's traffic the only safe motto is: "None for the road".

A. L. SANDERSON.

Cheers for Wilkinson blades

(The following from The St. Thomas Times-Journal as a result of comment in The Financial Post is guaranteed not to endear them to the makers of the other popular top-line stainless steel blades):

More and more "wet" shavers are switching to stainless steel blades, says The Financial Post. And small wonder. Instead of the single shave men used to get — sometimes you could squeeze more than one out of the old carbon steel blades — they are now able to get 15 or more shaves from the new stainless product.

Frankly, ever since the English firm, Wilkinson Sword, came out with the steel blades, we have had an uneasy feeling that we, and millions more like us, had been "had" by the firms manufacturing the carbon blade.

Why did they not give us the better blades years ago? They had been available in Sweden for a long time. We can only assume the one-shot blade business was more profitable.

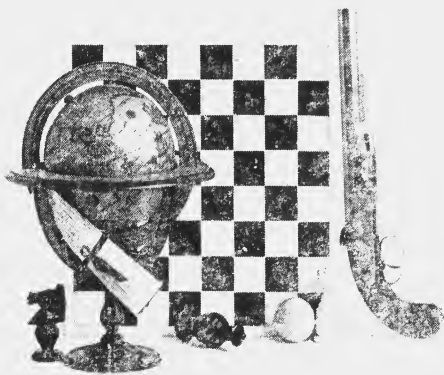

We will always carry a soft spot in our hearts for Wilkinson Sword for introducing the stainless item to Canadians. We had never heard of the company, and confess now that our first impressions of it were a little off the mark.

We visualized it as a tiny, ancient firm located somewhere in the heart of London, probably close to Buckingham Palace. We could see, in our mind's eye, elderly clerks and master craftsmen moving slowly about the musty interior. They wore dark suits and put on bowler hats and carried umbrellas when they went outside.

We were sure, in fact, that the employees had turned their skillful hands, somewhat disinclined, to the making of blades from left-over steel simply to keep themselves busy.

While they worked at this unworthy task, we felt sure that they felt sure that in the fullness of time and in the name of all that is proper, swords would surely come back.

Only right, ya'll know.

Report From Parliament Hill

April 23, 1966.
(Lawrence E. Kindt, M.P.)

The last few years on Parliament Hill have indeed been stormy ones and a series of minority Governments has certainly not contributed toward stability or a strong Central Government.

During the last few months the members of all parties are beginning to put these many tumultuous incidents into categories and into perspective, with the result that the basic problems confronting

Canada today are beginning to take definite form.

This is most important, as it is impossible to find real solutions if the real problems are not understood. The difficulty to date has been that the quarrels around Parliament Hill have been over "symptoms" of our national problems, rather than the problems themselves, e.g., there have been many angry words uttered concerning the desire of the provinces to assert new forms of independence (not known in the past), such as Quebec "opting out" of Federal legislation like the Canada Pension Plan, and Quebec and B. C. insisting on absolute control over certain resources. These instances are only symptoms of the real problem, viz., that Canada, for a number of reasons, has a very weak Central Government, and as a result is increasingly showing its inability to cope with the demands of all-powerful and determined provincial governments.

This situation was never envisaged by the framers of Confederation, and presents an increasingly serious threat to the unity and very existence of Canada as a nation.

This is the main problem that really confronts Canada at the present time, and perhaps it is fortunate that this matter is coming to a head on the eve of our Hundredth Anniversary as a nation. The great majority of Canadians, in all parts of the country, are indeed much in favor of "One Canada", and not in favor of a nation composed of a loose association of largely independent and parochial provincial governments.

Public pressure itself may well force many provincial governments to tone down the demands of their local political leaders and, likewise, renew the strength of the Federal Government, so that broad new policies for a growing and expanding new Canada will rejuvenate our country at the commencement of our second century as a nation.

Family Service Bureau Notes

Family Service Bureau of Crows Nest Pass and Pincher Creek Board of Directors

The following men also serve a very important part of our board. They represent the board and the council.

They are Milton Dypolt, from the village of Frank; Hector Lemire, from Cowley; Morden McNeill, from Hillcrest, serving for Improvement District No. 10, and Frank Plowman, from Bellevue.

All of the people that have been mentioned in this paper for the past several weeks as being part of our board are willing to offer information concerning our activities to anyone interested in obtaining help from the counsellors, Sister Leo Agnes and The Rev. Mr. Harold Coward, or to any group or organization which may be willing to help us in our work.

In twenty years Canada has gained 2.5 million immigrants, but lost one million emigrants.

Centennial Report

1867 1967

by JOHN W. FISHER
CENTENNIAL COMMISSIONER

Report No. 4—

The sound of a locomotive whistle in all its variations can produce waves of nostalgia in many Canadians, especially those of us who grew up in the steam generation.

A train's whistle has been a background accompaniment to life in small towns and cities throughout most of our nation's history. It played a tune for the frontier moving west, our growth and development and the bustle of a busy Canada at work.

In many Canadian communities, large and small, the railway whistle was an announcement — of news from the east or the west, of the arrival of needed supplies of friendly visitors or new citizens or the departure of others on their way to greater adventures and new careers.

During Centennial Year 1967 a host from the east or the west, starting at Victoria. Those who view the exhibits inside the train will face situations confronted by the early explorers and settlers of Canada. As they pass from car to car they will experience uncomfortable sensations of storage passage to this new country, pause for reflection in the Chamber of Confederation and pass through periods of the last 100 years, including the boom-and-bust twenties and the barren thirties, and the two World Wars. Children will derive special benefits from the lively presentation of history.

For more than 700 communities not visited by the train a blast from the air horn of a tractor trailer truck will announce the arrival of a similar exhibit in a huge Centennial Caravan. There will be eight Caravans travelling across Canada, each with eight 73-foot tractor trailers made in Calgary — the largest trailers ever to travel on North American roads — containing exhibits similar to those of the train. A Caravan will be arranged on a community site in a specific quadrangle formation, and its colorful, bold design will give the impression of a miniature fair. Travelling where roads permit, the Caravans will be within the reach of the vast majority of Canadians. Many communities will stage local events in conjunction with the Caravan's visit.

Be sure to watch for dates of the visit of the Confederation Train or Caravan in your area. Your newspaper and Centennial organization will know the location and time.

Our Alberta Heritage GREAT NORTHWEST PIONEER VILLAGE

See how one man recaptured the spirit of Alberta's pioneer past.

The Great Northwest Pioneer Village is more than a museum — It is a monument to the pride one man has in our Alberta heritage. That man is Earl Danard, son of a pioneer family. He has assembled a fascinating collection of thousands of relics and artifacts, housed in twenty-five original pioneer buildings. Mr. Danard's unique collection includes antique cars and engines, cutters and buggies, the first Indian school (built on the Winterburn Reserve by Rev. A. B. Baird in 1883), and an authentic Greek Orthodox chapel that accommodates just two worshippers. This living historical village represents a tremendous outlay of interest, time and effort in creating a unique tribute to the pioneer history of our Alberta.

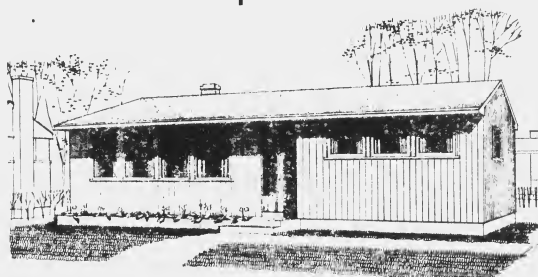

Take your family out to visit the Great Northwest Pioneer Village soon. It's located just twenty-three miles west of Edmonton on Highway 16.

Open Planning of Interior Adds Air of Spaciousness

The open planning of this bungalow house will make it appear larger inside than it actually is. A good entrance hall, the large windows in the living room, the door to the terrace and the raised living room ceiling all contribute to this impression. In spite of the open planning the dining space is segregated.

Architect K. R. D. Pearl, of St. Vital, Manitoba, has ensured that the working, living and sleeping areas are well separated. The living room with its garden terrace should face south.

The floor area is 960 square feet and the exterior dimensions are 40 feet by 24 feet. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 130, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

June 11 Date Set For W.V.T.C. Shoot

the following week-end, June 18. Sportsmen planning on entering various events are reminded that the minimum age is 16 years. Persons carrying rifles on the grounds are advised that actions must be kept open when the firearms are not in use.

The events will get underway with a trap shoot for the Hutchinson trophy and will be followed by .22 calibre competitions for the Pete Maloff trophy, the Willow ing offered and contestants will earn points towards this from five events. A score of 98 is possible from the five-man team event, the .22 calibre at 50 yards event, the iron or scope sight big game rifle event, the Hunters' Match event and the trap shoot.

With Bands And Banners They Come

With bands playing and banners waving the Salvation Army has been on the march throughout the world, for more than one hundred years, bringing comfort and cheer to the distressed and destitute.

The Movement has grown phenomenally from a small mission in East London to an international army of men and women working in 70 countries, in 167 languages. In Canada, nearly 2,000 full-time officers, representing almost as many centres of work, strive round the clock to help the needy wherever they may be without regard to race, religion or nationality. In accordance with the vision of its founder, General William Booth, the Army believes that effective social work must be aimed at fostering self-respect, spiritual fortitude, emotional maturity and financial independence.

Among the earliest developments in The Salvation Army's spiritual and humanitarian mission were hostels for destitute men, homes for unfortunate women, aid to prisoners and ex-convicts and employment services for both men and women.

All these facilities have been continued, with adaptations allowing for full use of modern knowledge and techniques. The most up-to-date methods in medicine, casework, psychology, psychiatry and group therapy are called upon to help rehabilitate alcoholics, unused mothers, inmates of correctional institutions and those released on parole and probation.

Material assistance is made available to individuals and families in want. Wherever possible, efforts are made to prepare the errant adolescent and adult for jobs and aid them in securing employment.

Yes indeed, The Salvation Army has expanded its services far beyond the expectations of that early band of men and women who struggled to relieve poverty in the East London slums, and to bring aid to the spiritually impoverished. The Army of the helping hand now operates a vast network of institutions and programs geared to the amelioration of the needy and unfortunate in every province of Canada.

Just as in the early days of the Organization, the modern day officers and soldiers of this dedicated Army can be found helping those in need. Offering an understanding mind, a loving heart and willing hands to ease the way for the discouraged, the lonely and the sick.

Last year 46,977 prisoners were met and helped by The Salvation Army following their discharge from Canadian prisons. During the same period more than one million Canadians were visited and helped by the Army's League of Mercy workers from coast to coast. People from all walks of life seek the help of the devoted men and women of this organization, and none are turned away.

Split-Level Design Suits South-Westerly Orientation

This design by architect K. R. D. Pratt, of St. Vital, Manitoba, would be best oriented with the living room window facing in a south-westerly direction.

The sloping ceiling in the living room combined with the large fireplace with the hearth here create a spacious and cheerful atmosphere. The well-arranged U-shaped kitchen has good access to the service entrance leading to the carport. Six steps separate the living area of the house from the two bedrooms and bathroom.

The total floor area is 1020 square feet, excluding carport, and the exterior dimensions are 14 feet by 30 feet. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 700, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Check Your Car And Enjoy It

Every April and May the vehicle safety committee of the Canadian Highway Safety Council sponsors a nation-wide campaign to alert owners of their personal responsibility for the safe operation of their vehicles. The 1966 campaign will open midnight, March 31st, and end at midnight, May 31st, with the active participation of dealers, service and garage operators from coast to coast.

"They don't need more business at this time of year," said S. E. Swallow, chairman of the committee, "but spring is the most important car check time, so they join us each year in our effort to reduce the number of unsafe vehicles on the streets and highways." Director of service for the Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd., Mr. Swallow, who lives in Clarkson, Ont., urged every owner of a car or truck to have his vehicle thoroughly checked. "Only in this way can potential failures due to wear and tear be detected before they produce tragic results."
